What value does Cincom add to Microsoft?

The success of Cincom can be attributed in large part to its clearly defined vision, mission and strategy.

Simplicity

Complexity is a fact of life in virtually every business process and operation today. While complexity will not go away, Cincom solutions help you manage it more easily, enabling you to make better decisions, communicate more clearly and provide greater value at a lower cost for your customers.

Delivered Value

To deliver value to our clients, we focus exclusively on areas where simplified business operations and customer communications are most critical to their success. This enables us to build and bring deep expertise and resources to help our clients manage complex business situations. Our industry experience and customer knowledge help us tailor solutions with low-cost solutions that offer a quick return on investment and minimize risk for our customers. We get it: When you win, we win.

We have served our clients longer than most other technology providers have been in business; a lot longer in most cases. Technology businesses don't last unless you deliver unique value. Many of our clients have trusted and grown with us for over 40 years.

The Perfect Customer Experience

Dedication to providing the perfect customer experience has been our foundation for more than 40 years. Through ongoing customer and partner relationships and R&D, we anticipate your future needs. This ensures that our solutions are ready when you are. We live out the vision of the perfect customer experience every day at Cincom. As we pursue our individual tasks, our culture ensures that we understand how we fit into the bigger picture to serve you better.

Customer Satisfaction

Cincom takes great pride in the fact that we consistently score high in the area of customer satisfaction. In fact, 95% of our customers state that they would recommend Cincom to other companies without hesitation.
